The Rev. J. B. Meacham, pastor of nation for Congress in this, the Southern Presbyterian church at Mt. Sterling, was taken to Lexington to undergo an operation for appendicitis. His condition is said to be serious.

Thomas Stewart, an army private of Hopper, Knox county, Ky., while doing guard duty at Fort Brady, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., was accidentally shot and killed.

As the outcome of an argument in Monroe county over the Caleb Powers case, Caleb Powell was shot and killed by James Wright. Both were Republicans.

The legal department of the Pennsylvania railroad announces that the company will not resist the new Ohio law providing for a two-cent railroad rate, but will give it a fair trial.

James R. Rash, of Earlinton, Ky., has given to the trustees of South Kentucky College, at Hopkinsville, Ky., $10,000, to be used in erecting a building in memory of the donor's son, Ben L. Rash, Jr., who was a student at the college.

Senator Jose W. Bailey, of Texas, has purchased another farm in Fayette county, Ky.

It is estimated that there are 125,000 dogs in Kentucky and as under the new law each one of them will have to be taxed a dollar a head. We are inclined to think that there will be more dogs killed this year than sheep.

The General Baptist Convention of America probably will be invited to meet in Louisville in May, and if the invitation is extended it will be accepted. The convention will bring 2,000 persons to Louisville.

Twenty-eight miners were entombed in an explosion in a coal mine near Mount Hope, W. Va. Twelve of the men were rescued, and one dead body was recovered.

Burkville, Ky., Feb. 8.—Ben White Coleman, Town Marshal of this place, committed suicide here this evening by shooting himself through the brain with a pistol. No cause can be found for taking his life. He had been out of town all day on official business, and after returning went to his boarding-house. After talking with Mr. J. S. Bruton a few minutes he extended his hand and shaking hands with Mr. Bruton with the pistol in his left hand, shot him twice.

He had been Town Marshal of Burkville for the past eight months, and made a fearless, efficient officer. He was a son of Judge C. Coleman, for many years County Judge of Metcalfe county. He is survived by a young widow, having been married about ten months.

In Kentucky there are sixty-seven counties entirely under the law prohibiting the sale of liquor and thirty-three other counties where license to sell is only granted by the County Seat. The County Unit law which is before the Legislature if adopted would add at least twenty-five of these counties to the prohibition column. The argument that is made for the county unit law is that the people in a county ought to be allowed to vote it out of towns where they do business and where they have to send their boys. It is also asserted, with truth, that whiskey is sold at one place in the county, it being rendered ineffective the prohibitory laws which prevail in the rest of the county.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 8.—Arthur Pearson, colored, was legally hanged at Waynesboro, Tenn., today for criminal assault on Dora Seelos, a thirteen-year-old white girl. The crime was a most brutal one.

Columbus, O., Feb. 8.—The Pittsboro lawlessness bill which was accepted by the Senate to day, and it is now a law, will not go into effect, however, until thirty days have elapsed. The law provides that two cents shall be the maximum rate for passengers on the railroads, of Ohio for all distances in excess of five miles. Only one vote was recorded against the new law.

Representative Ollie Janow demonstrated that he will not stand for any legislation in connection with the House records. He offered an amendment to the rate bill prohibiting railroads from contributing to campaign funds. The Republicans voted it down. The records did not show what disposition had been made of it to day. Mr. Janow objected to the approval of the journal until the correction was made and it was made forthwith.

The House passed the pension appropriation carrying $128,000,000 for pensions and $12,000,000 for aqueducts.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 10.—It was officially given out here to-night that Col. John R. Allen, Commonwealth's Attorney of the Fayette Circuit Court, in a few weeks will be announced as a candidate for the Democratic nomi-

Wong Fong, former secretary of the Six Companies in San Francisco, thinks the Boxer trouble in China will result in the greatest massacres of modern times. Wong Fong warns all foreigners to leave China before February 24.

Miss Bell Conroy, of New York City, is employed by the New York State Dental association to run down the many unlicensed dentists. In doing this she has the distinction of having her teeth examined more times than any other woman in the world. She visits an average of three dentists' offices daily, has her teeth cleaned at least three times a week and carries a small fortune of gold in her mouth which may be removed to-morrow replaced the next day. Miss Conroy is 82 years old and three years ago managed a dental office of her own.

Gunpowder.

At this period of the world's history gunpowder has become a factor of great importance. To trace its origin, development and effectiveness, presents to the thoughtful mind a subject worthy of consideration. It is so many centuries old that the date of its invention is involved in conjecture. Roger Bacon, 1214-94, is credited by some as being its originator, and Schwartz, a German, 1320, by others. But references contained in old reliable manuscripts, virtually deprive them of this credit. History seems fully to substantiate the claim that it was in the possession of the Chinese at a much earlier period. It is also asserted that about the fourteenth century it was employed in warfare during the Moorish conflicts, and that it played a conspicuous part in the battle of Cracow, 1346, between England and France.

It is not remarkable that, although centuries have elapsed since its first introduction, there has been scarcely any change in its component parts.

Three materials, that are very common, are combined in the composition of this wonderful explosive—alum, charcoal, tin, and sulphur, 10 per cent.

The most reliable carbon or charcoal is obtained from the willow. These ingredients are finely powdered and then thoroughly mixed. This emulsion, in a moistened condition, is subjected to strong hydraulic pressure.

The cakes thus produced are divided into suitable and different sizes, or grains, as they are usually termed. The small firearms require grains much reduced in size compared with those used in canons. The difference in the magnitude of the grains represents the strength diversity existing in the various grades of powder.

An important principle in connection with this explosive consists in the fact that ignition is accomplished with much greater facility in the small grain when exposed to the burning process than in the larger one.

Small-grained powder, therefore, is not used in the large-size ordnance, from danger of bursting. The energy produced by this explosive results from the gas encendered by ignition, and this expands in area many times greater than that originally occupied by the solid.

The effect of this expanded gas to escape from its confinement is what constitutes its gigantic propelling properties, and forces before it the ball, or whatever obstruction opposes its progress.

The large-sized grain is slower in being converted into a gaseous condition, therefore used in the larger ordnance. The more pronounced inertia offered by the large ball has to be overcome, and thus ample time is afforded for it to escape from the nozzle before expansion assumes dangerous proportions.

The inertia of the small ball being less, is more easily overcome, therefore the small-grained powder is employed.

To repeat, if a charge of small shot is to be fired, and quick action required, fine-grained powder should be used. The powder adopted in some of the larger guns should not be designated by the title of "grains," being a misnomer, as they often measure two inches to the side.

THE PAST AND THE FUTURE.

So near the beginning of a new year is a proper time to review the past and if possible peer into the future.

All history is mere romance unless studied as an example.

By its guidance we can travel back over the centuries that slumber. It is with reverent hand that we lift veil time has dropped over a sacred past. While the world was yet new we find students busy developing theories and systems to be perfected by coming generations thus aiding in opening up new paths in the fields of literature, science and art. The torch of genius cannot be extinguished. Thinkers are mortal, but thoughts immortal. Great leaders die, but principles are eternal. Only by studying the past can we rightly estimate the possibilities of life future, and what better mental food can we crave than which furnishes such lasting stimulus to earnest endeavor. Each century sweeps down the loves and hates of its predecessors, yet its achievements are never forgotten; its ambitions, its emotions die, each task is laid down, but the truths set in motion will live and gather strength as the years go by.

The decisions rendered by the diplomats of the past continue to sway the judicial world of today. Blackstone's legal reputation has suffered no diminution during the years that have swept over his grave. Gladstone will be a greater power in the political life of Europe in a hundred years hence, than he was at the time his masterful brain was darkened by the effects of death. Herbert Spencer, who has spent the best years of a long life in study that he might give to the world a comprehensive generalization of modern thought, has sealed his fame, and his name will be honored centuries after his frail body sleeps with the mighty thinkers who preceded him. Time passed in the society of great minds is always helpful.

As we turn from the past to consider some of the possibilities of the future may we not claim for ourselves higher resolves for self development, which as a rule means self promotion? The onward march of civilization has made the deserts and the blossom as the rose; and as we go from conquest of conquest, what is in reserve for coming generations is an easy prediction. The auto-carriage will be the carriage of the future. Ocean cables that have brought continents into close contact will be perfected and their service will be cheapened so that other than millionaires may hope to receive or convey a message. Electricity that man has chained and made his servant will become the light of the world. It rivals the sun in radiance and no one will question its striking qualities. In the future electricity will be used to propel the farm plow and the old farm house will be sold for army rations. A bridge will span the Atlantic. Electric motors with the arms attached will convey young America to Old England without the aid of steam. Sea sickness will be abolished. The whole world will be run by electric bells. Telephones will connect every town and hamlet. The planter, Mars, will be in direct communication with the earth. The telephone will do away with old fashioned type setting. Women will have the ballot and will be elected to congress and the Senate of the United States and when there will wrangle as persistently as the men. Women and men will seek wider fields of mental activity. The Indian warwhoop will give place to the sweet music of cultured orchestras. The wigwam will be deserted by the Indian nation, and will discard the arts of horsemanship, and clothe in fine raiment, will play grand piano with the grace of our town belles. The Filipinos will become civilized and christianized and the noble Malays, now so evocative these much-coveted islands, will become social stars, and in political homes will entertain the president of the United States and his cabinet officials. The ladies, gowned in rich velvets and satins and brilliant jewelry, will be added to the mounted aristocracy of America. Portraits of the generals, who whipped these barbarians into those happy conditions, will be found in the drawing rooms of Manila. "The Star Spangled Banner" will continue to float over Cuba. The sweeping social ostracism of the people of dusky skin shall become absolute. These pugnacious nations are not based on fairy tales or vagaries of the imagination, but on facts. The past, a guarantee for the advanced ideas of the future we must not forget, what coming centuries hold in keeping for our own country, on the part she may play in the shifting drama of the future. Our town with her schools and her churches, must have some humble part in the world's achievements.

Representative Hopkins of Kentucky introduced in the House an immigration bill which he believes would bar thousands of undesirable foreigners seeking admission into the United States.

Senator Linn's bill regulating the sale of patent medicines and limiting the amount of alcohol in them was referred to Dr. Watson, of the Committee on Public Health, to investigate and report.

What a glorious record? Who'll be next? "Another otherwise promising young man of this county went last week, suddenly and prematurely, to his grave, with twenty-five cigarettes a day to his credit,"—Maysville Public Ledger.

Gov. Patterson, of Ohio, is being treated by two physicians of different schools, who never consult with each other, or call at the same hour. On his inauguration day the Governor was put into a glass case to prevent his taking cold, and it now looks like the next case would be furnished by an undertaker.

Senator Conn Linn has completed the work of redrafting Senator Charlton's bills seeking to regulate the crimes of robbery and burglary. Among the alterations made by Senator Linn is to change the penalty for feloniously entering a house from the death penalty to imprisonment for not less than ten and not more than twenty years.

An erroneous impression seems to exist in some parts of the country regarding the scope of the rural free delivery service. Although the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General has recommended that mail matter be permitted to be addressed to rural boxes, according to their numbers, and not to any particular individual, the same as in post offices, the Postmaster General has not yet given his approval to the same. As the matter now stands, unless mail is specifically addressed to parties residing on rural routes, it will not be delivered.

The NEWS is indebted to Senator Watson for public documents.

C. Brock Hill, formerly of Winchester, has gone to Huntington and has become a citizen of West Virginia. This eliminates one of the "also spoken of" candidates for Congress from the Tenth district.

The act proposing a diploma from the State A and M College to entitle persons to teach in common schools without further examination, if they continue in school work, and that a teacher who attends summer school at the college excused from attending county institute, has passed the House and Senate.

In the House at Washington the Adams Bill, providing for the establishment of the whipping post for wife-beaters in the District of Columbia, was laid on the table by a vote of 155 to 68. The bill was the subject of ridicule from a number of speakers, among them Mr. Stanley, of Kentucky. And the Big Sandy News is glad to notice that Mr. Hopkins, of Kentucky, voted against passing the bill on the table.

That period in the life of the Legislature has been reached where it is necessary to transact business and immediately after the adjournment Monday the Committee on Rules met and decided that the House would hold afternoon sessions. Beginning Tuesday the Legislature will be in the home stretch. It will adjourn sine die March 13, leaving just twenty-eight working days, or cutting out Washington's birthday, which is usual, but twenty-seven in a couple of weeks night sessions will be resorted to. The bulk of the legislation remains to be done.

The NEWS has very little patience with and much less use for the so-called Democratic newspapers in Kentucky which are everlasting mud at what they are pleased to call the "machine"—meaning thereby Governor Beckham and other State officials. It is reasonably expected, and our expectations have not been in vain, that the Republican newspapers would be full of this sort of thing, but the Democratic editors who have failed to get what they wanted for themselves or their friends have descended to depths of slander and calumny not yet reached by any Republican paper in the State, the Louisville Post only excepted. What some of these sore-headed Democratic editors have written during the past twelve months will make excellent material for the next crop of Republican campaign speech-binders, and they will not be slow to use it.

With a thirst that is more than...
He leaves a great sigh
When he's overtly-drunk
And says, "This is simply infolent."

THE LIMIT.

A fisherman down in New Guinea
Went angling for specimens fauna.
But he only brought in A few fish that were thin
As himself, and, gee whiz! he was skinned.

TWAS EVER SO.

Riding down the pavement lay
On his Christmas sled.
Using the language blue and spicy
When he cracks his head;
Throwing snowballs packed and

FIRE AT BUCHANAN.

Two Buildings Destroyed. Dr.
Warren Fell From Roof and Was Injured.

A fire caused by a defective fuse broke out in the hall during prayer meeting Wednesday evening. By good judgment everyone got out of the building. The hall and blacksmith shop were reduced to ashes in a short time and only the heroic efforts of a large number of people who form a bucket brigade saved the residence of Ezra Hatten, Dr. Banfield's office and Hatten & Warren's store.
All the buildings were in line and a small South wind blowing. Quins and blankets were brought from the store and applied to the houses until the fire was quenched. Dr. M. C. Warren fell from the top of a house during the fire and broke his arm and was severely scratched up.

Children for the Home.

An agent for the Children's Home in Louisa was here this week and took six children away with him.
Three of them are the little Stephens girls and three are from the County
Ornery, one being a child of Maria
Pigg, who died a few weeks ago.
These waifs are all sent by order of the County Judge.

Southern Bell Telephone Co.

Engineers from this company were here and in this vicinity several days recently. There is probably no doubt of the intention of the company to build a line along the route indicated
in this paper a short time ago. One of the signs of interest is the purchase
of 500 telephone poles.

HENRIETTA.

Last Sunday was meeting time at

PIRATING FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR.

The Grayson papers state that Judge Kinner held Court in that place four or five days when he was compelled to leave on account of illness. E. B.
Wilholt was chosen to preside in his place.

Later—We are sorry to learn that Judge Kinner has suffered two light strokes of paralysis and has gone to Columbus for treatment.

The wife of Theodore Johnson, of Palmer station, died Wednesday night after a lingering illness caused by consumption. She was buried yesterday. Rev. H. R. Halsted and undertaker John Waldeck went down on the morning train and attended the public funeral. Deceased was a daughter of John and Mary Palmer.

The residence occupied for so many years by W. H. Waldeck is being moved from the corner of Main and Lady Washington streets to a lot adjoining Beaton Reynolds, opposite the site of the old depot. It will be divided and some new additions will be converted into two houses.

The close communion session Wednesday afternoon (from which the husbands are excluded and when the real damage is done) was held with Mrs.

Broke A P. O. Box.

Catlettsburg was always jealous of Louisa. It tries to imitate in all sorts of ways. The people of the Gate-City, so-called, tried in every way to keep them from getting a dam, spelled this way—and when they failed they never rested until they got one of their own.
And when they heard our post office had been blown and burgled they turned green with envy. Things went along quite while and they had about given up everything, attaining our pinnacle of prominence, when all of a sudden something happened. Poles cracked, the bells rang, the entire police force—all who were not asleep—turned out and ran around the corner, and in a moment the mailmen news went about that the postoffice safe had been dynamited and robbed of 700 or 800 dollars. Here, then, is where we get even, said the Catlettsburgers. The blood-booms were brought forth and put on the sevent—was it the cent—and excitement reigned supreme. But phew! A
"cooper" and Postmaster Harper made an investigation, and the whole thing fizzled down to the discovery that the glass in the box rented by the Catlettsburg National Bank had been broken, and the mail it contained stolen. This all occurred last night, and the Gate has not been opened since.

PRESTONSBURG.

Rev. Smith, of West Virginia, has been assisting Rev. Amill, of the M.
E. Church South, in a series of meetings,
which was indeed a decided success,
with more than 50 conversions.
Rev. Smith is a good preacher, and we hope to have him with us again
in the near future.

The Kentucky Normal College is enjoying one of its most successful years. The two literary societies, the Little Gleaners and the Teresian, are furnishing excellent programs. An interesting feature was delivered Monday in the society by Mr. Claud Stephens, of the Scientific class, on the life and character of Hon. T. Y. Fitzpatrick.

Prof. and Mrs. Racine Murray, of Paintsville, were in the vicinity several days recently. There is probably no doubt of the intention of the company to build a line along the route indicated
in this paper a short time ago. One
of the signs of interest is the purchase
of 500 telephone poles.

Lucien Johnson was returning to Paintsville, W. Va., but Mrs. Johnson and the children are still here.

Fred Moore, the well-known commercial tourist, was the recent guest of his sister, Mrs. Hannah Lackey.

Mrs. Chester Williamson and four children of Waukesha, Mich., are visiting the family of Judge R. T. Burns.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Stewart went to Ashland Monday to hear Sam Jones,
Mrs. Stewart remaining until Tuesday evening.

The Jones, the shadow catcher, has brought part of the Hawes place with view of going largely into the chick-

of Hon. W. S. Harkins is nearing completion. This is one of the finest buildings in the valley.

Miss Lizzie Taylor, attending school
here, visited home folks at Ashland, Ky., Sunday, as did also Gordon C.
Burress, at Georges Creek.

Elder William Hunniford, of East Point, was in town one day last week,
looking after some business matters.

Evan Fairchild moved from here this week, returning to his farm in Magoffin county. Mr. Fairchild is an honorable citizen and we predict for him a prosperous life.

Martin Boyd visited home folks at Whitehouse Friday of last week.

BUCHANAN.

for a few days, was able to resume work
on C. and O. Monday.

Miss Lizzie Kinner visited her gran-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Hogan, at Garner last week.

Rev. G. W. Pangburn is very ill
at his home here.

Misses Lena and Letta Stewart, of Cattlettsburg, spent part of last week with Laura Compton, returning home over the N. and W. Sunday.

Paul Turner has returned from a trip to East Liverpool, O.

Wat Prichard was here Monday returning to his work at Cattlettsburg after spending Sunday with homefolks at Belle Fork.

Miss Lizzie Hatten is visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Wallace, Jr., at Louisa.

Stanton Burris, of Huntington, was a business visitor here Monday.

L. C. Prichard was called from Falls City, Neb., Tuesday by the serious illness of his father, Wm. Prichard.

Who would exchange the merry notes of children at play, with the children home where the clock tick can be heard hour after hour in the dull silence? But there are a great many who would exchange the quiet of the home with the children that fate has refused them. Fate is often in this case only a name, and we are all the same.

Many a glad mother dotes her happiness from the day she first became the mother of a child. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It often happens that with the return of health the entire world seems in sound health, the way is opened for the joy of motherhood. "Favorite Prescription" is a specific for the child and a comfort to women. It cures them perfectly and permanently.

No other medicine can do so much as "Favorite Prescription." Do not therefore let any other medicine be palmed off on you as "just as good."

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, opium, cocaine, or other narcotic. It is strictly a temperature medicine.

"I can truly say your medicine is a friend," writes Mr. Arthur Grant, of Amherstburg, Ontario, "I have a son of four children and suffered greatly at times of birth of first three. I began to think of trying some medicine to ease those terrible pains. I heard of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and said to myself, 'This is the medicine that would give me the least labor pains.' He said there was nothing that could be given to a woman in labor but to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I started to take it in the first pains and I was soon out of trouble and could faint away two or three times a day. I never could not help me and it was a drab. I never had a doctor but I could only die in one of these spells but I was not beaten." Favorite Prescription and follow every doctor well at the time of delivery. I had heard of painless birth and I wanted to have a medicine that would help those pains but I know now for myself, and can not tell it plain enough, that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best medicine as we mothers know. I advise my friends to try it. Baby is now four months old and in a strong healthy boy.

Dr. Pierce's Patients Cure Constipation.

THE FARM.

COW TALK.

A dairy cow should give milk for at least 200 days in every 12 months. Do not send the cows out into the pasture till the grass has obtained a good start.

A pinch of salt after each feed will make the cows lick the mangers to the very corners.

Most of the profit hinges on the cost of the cow, provided you have a good cow to start with.

A moderate temperature in the cow stable promotes comfort, if not obtained at the expense of good air.

The heifer having her first calf should be carefully handled, as it is at this time her habits of milking and feeding are established.

Many cows that are in good flesh now will come out in the spring so poor that they will have to stand twice in one place to make a shadow, all because of shortage of winter feed.

DISPOSITIONS OF COWS.

Cows—after as much in their dispositions as human beings. Any farmer that has handled a large number of cows will have run across the stubborn cow, the affectionate cow, the motherly cow, and even the belligerent cow. Some of these qualities are good and some are bad. A man should try to eliminate the bad qualities and encourage the development of the good ones in the selection of the cows for the continuation of his herd.

FALSE ECONOMY.

If one has profitable cows, it won't pay to allow them to get out of condition by economizing on feed; and if they are not all profitable, now is the time to do some effective culling, and thus save feed for the paying animals.—Farm Journal.

GIVE COWS LIGHT.

Do not keep cows in a dark, sunless place. Have the stalls where the sun will shine in, batten all cracks and make the stable as warm as possible.—Farmers' Voice.

FAIR-MADE MANURE.

The farm-made manure is the best all-round fertilizer the farmer can

SEED TIME

The experienced farmer has learned that some grains require far different soil than others; some crops need different handling than others. He knows that a great deal depends upon right planting at the right time, and that the soil must be kept enriched. No use of complaining in summer about a mistake made in the spring. Decide before the seed is planted.

The best time to remedy wasting conditions in the human body is before the evil is too deep rooted. At the first evidence of loss of flesh should be taken immediately. There is nothing that will repair wasted tissue more quickly or replace lost flesh more abundantly than Scott's Emulsion. It nourishes and builds up the body when ordinary foods absolutely fail.

AN ACRE FOR THE BOY.

I believe in giving the boy or girl an acre or two of good land close to the house upon the understanding that I am to furnish trees, plants and seeds to stock the plot, and that no one is first to supply the family with all the fruit and vegetables the family can use, and then have the balance to sell to best advantage, processes to be his or her own. This will serve to center the children's interest in the farm, says a writer in the Orange Judd Farmer, and the country.

CUT UP PART OF THE HAY.

Part of the hay may be cut and mown before feeding, the remainder being fed long as the carriage horses have plenty of time for masticating his food.

Think how the first cold days of winter make us hurry into our overcoats; then do the fair things with the stock. They can't help themselves so we must keep them all snug under cover.

FROZEN POTATOES.

If the potatoes freeze, do not allow them to thaw. Keep them frozen until used, or else bury them in the ground. For cooking, while frozen, wash quickly and put them immediately into boiling water. Apples should be kept from the earth until the frost is out. If they are to be used while frozen, pare and slice them into boiling water. The pieces will remain white when cooked, but it left out they turn brown.

TRY IT.

When a calf is taken away to be butchered, if a string (wine of any kind) is put into its blood and then around the neck, it will not be possible to find it when it is cut. If the city was twice as large as it is now one would dispute it would be twice as helpful to the county, the county is interested in the growth and development of Louisville, not only as a matter of county pride, but from a selfish motive as well on the other hand every development and advancement of the county is helpful to the town. The county can not grow and develop without helping the town and the town can not grow with out helping the county. Their interests are so closely interwoven that they are almost identical. Our own business of publishing the Big Sandy News illustrates this as well as anything we know. The paper could not be published if the country people did not take it, and it could not be published if the town merchants did not advertise. We do business with both and in this each helps us to publish the paper and at the same time helps each other. We have a good town and a good county, and by a closer bond of union and by all working together we can make both still much better. Will you help?

My wife improved with first bottle and twelve bottles completed cure." Cures the worst coughs and colds or money refunded. At A. M. Hughes, druggist, 25¢.

FILL UP A COW WITH ICE-COLD WATER, and allow her to stand in the winter winds for an hour afterward, and you will be surprised to find how quickly she will respond to find how quickly she will respond to the treatment by taking out of the milk pail.—Farm Journal.

Although it is still the "dead of winter," with a prospect of several months between us and the spring blossoms, it is full time that our seed and plant orders are made out. The catalogue may now be had for the asking, many seeds of our most desirable flowers and vegetables must be planted in the house in January and February, in order to have them ready to transplant when the outdoor season arrives. These must be ordered now. To get the best services of your seedman, order as early as possible, and send in your seed in your lists in January or February. Their stock is then full and the rush of the latter months is not yet come; those having a full supply to choose from, and time to give the orders personal, or at least expert attention, the seedmen are inclined to be more liberal, and the best of everything goes into the early order. Later, the stock becomes reduced, and often incompetent help must be employed, and it stands to reason that one is not so well served. If the lists are sent in now, the seedmen will only send such as can be safely entrusted to the mails or express companies, keeping back the tender plants and tubers or buds until danger of frost is over. It is best to send your lists now.
